Newsletter - Tuesday 11th March

A message from Mrs McGann

I hope that you have all had a lovely weekend in the sunshine! Last week, we had our ungraded Ofsted Inspection. All of the staff would like to thank you for the kind words that you shared in the parent questionnaires. A few were read out to me and I definitely had a tear in my eye. We really were overwhelmed by your support and kindness.

Thank you also for your assistance with the egg competition and World Book day - we were so impressed!

William Morris inspired artwork

Art is undoubtedly one of our favourite subjects at Burton Green.
The children are so creative.

This artwork produced by Owls class is simply stunning! They were inspired to create their own William Morris style fabric prints following their trip to the York Art Gallery.

Roman York

Owls have had the BEST trip to The Yorkshire Museum in the Museum Gardens.

This trip was for the children to learn more about their History topic - Romans. There couldn't be a better place to learn about Eboracum - Roman York. Owls came back to school bursting with enthusiasm about the incredible collection of objects and walking on the real Roman mosaic!

World Book Day was such a wonderful way of celebrating books and reading. The children looked absolutely fantastic and the entries for the egg competition were stunning!

Careers Update

We are working to inspire the children regarding different careers. Since the last newsletter, we have been visited by our very own Mrs Bharath, female train driver, as well as an Optometrist.

Stylish Glasses!

Foxes have been sketching and mark making using Ancient Maya as inspiration.

This was inspired by the work of Diego Rivera (who we found out was actually Frida Kahlo's husband!)

An Opera comes to Burton Green Primary School

Key Stage Two had the most amazing experience - they watched The Vanishing Forest Opera in the Hall. This included singers, instrumentalists and an ingenious set.

The Vanishing Forest used spells, puppetry and mystical flowers to educate and inspire the children on the issue of deforestation through the Shakespeare infused opera. What a treat!
